Kit and Sam had used the magic watch to go and visit Albert Einstein. He was waiting impatiently for the mailman to deliver a test tube. Luckily, Kit had taken one from school to use in his science project and he handed it over.

“Er, are you Mr Albert Einstein?” asked Sam nervously.

“Well of course, who else would I be? And call me Albert!” replied the man.

“I’m confused,” whispered Kit. “Albert Einstein was not known for experimenting using test tubes!”

"You arrived just in time," said Albert. "I have agreed to do a quick experiment for a friend. Now, you must be silent as I am not used to doing chemistry." Albert pointed to a chair and said, "Sit down, please."

There is lots of smoke swirling up and out of the test tubes that Albert is using. It begins to form some letters.
What words can you make from the smoke letters?

In Albert's House

Albert Einstein's house is full of all kinds of curious objects. Can you find any with the u_e sound in? Write them down.

This is a good activity to do on whiteboards.

"Right," said Albert, coughing through the fumes. Now that experiment is done, how about you tell me who you are and what you want."

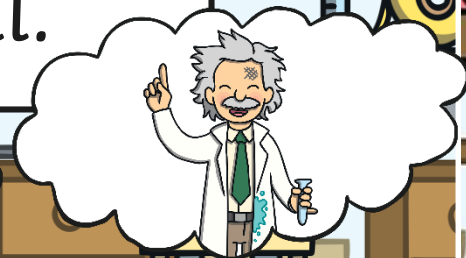

"I'm Kit and this is my sister Sam," said Kit. "We were in school learning all about science and it inspired us to come and visit you. We are working on a very exciting project."

“Well, of course!” laughed Albert. “Did you know I was never very good at school? It was only when I left that I became a real scientist. Now, have you decided what you would like to do?”
