

Adding -er

Superhero Magazine

Today, we are learning to read words that end in -er.

It was early evening and Kit and Sam were both sitting quietly in the living room. Sam was sat on the sofa reading a unicorn story book. Kit was crouched on the floor. He had a pile of cards sprawled out in front of him.

Sam glanced down at the cards lying on the carpet. “What are those?” enquired Sam.

“They came with this magazine. They are about different superheroes and their powers,” replied Kit, holding up his magazine. “In the story, they are all attending a training camp to sharpen up their magic powers.”

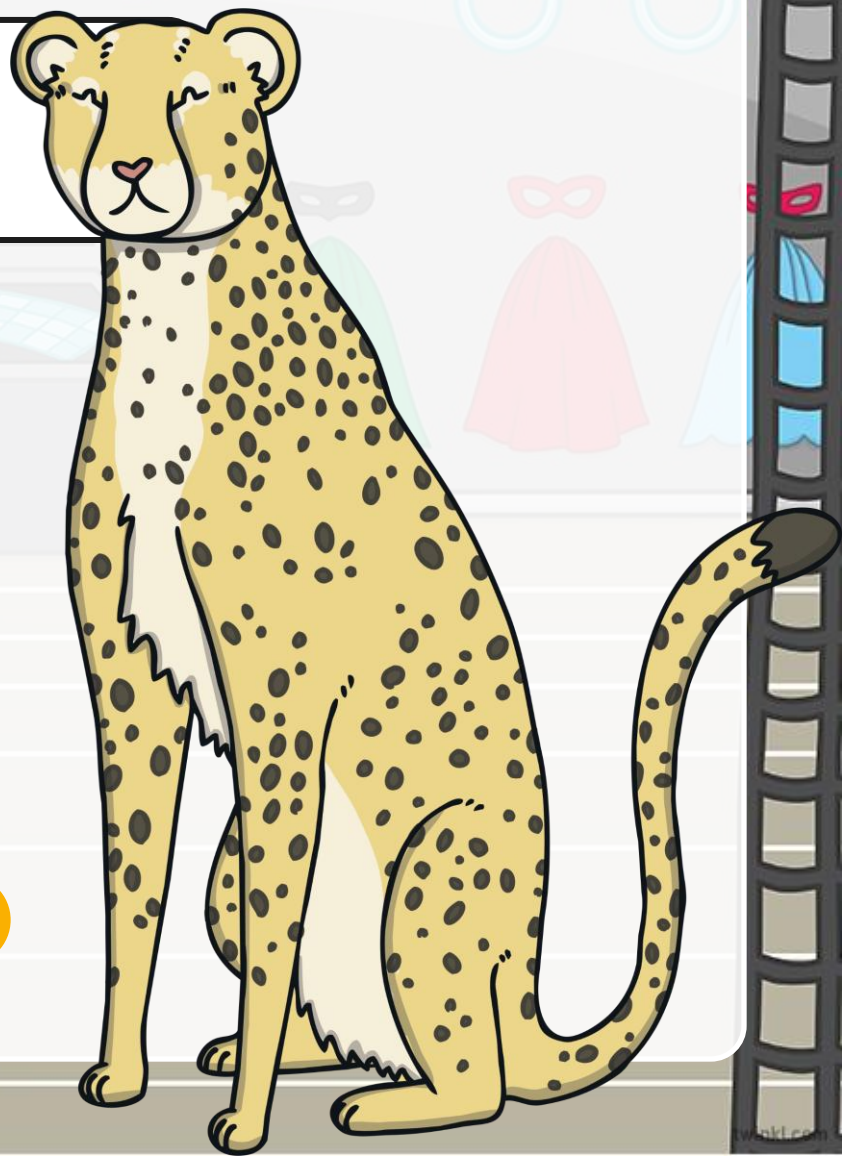

“Oh, that sounds fun!” responded Sam.

“I know! How cool,” replied Kit. Kit held up one of the cards and read out part of the superhero's profile. “This superhero is quicker than a cheetah.”

“I would love to be at their training camp. Just imagine having special powers to help save the world,” said Kit.

“Let’s do it! We have not used the magic book in a while and I have just finished reading my story. I am ready for an adventure!” replied Sam.

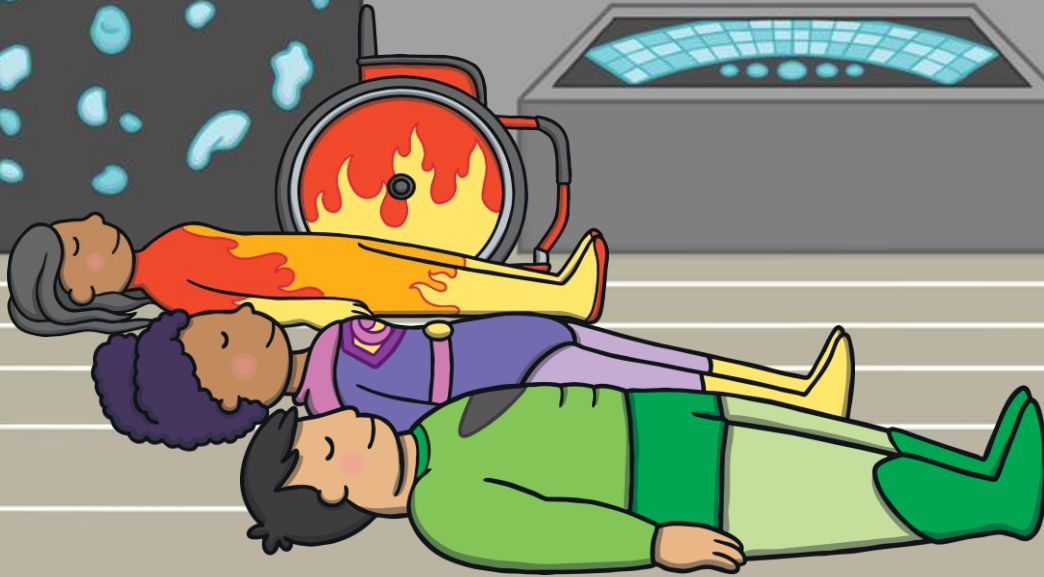

Kit and Sam went upstairs and got the magic book. “Take us to the training camp” whispered Kit into the magic book. The room started to fade and all of a sudden, Kit and Sam were stood in a giant hall.

“What are they doing?” whispered Sam to Kit.

“I am not sure. It did not mention this in my magazine,” replied Kit quietly. “Maybe it is cool-down time like we have after our PE sessions at school.”

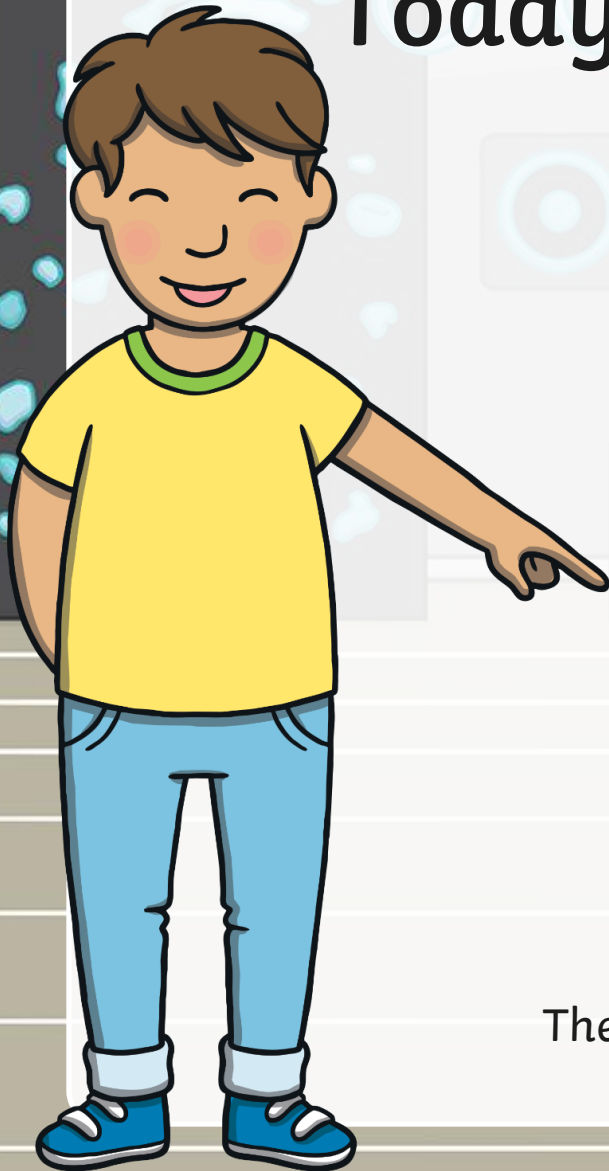

Suddenly, a loud booming voice could be heard coming from a speaker. “The next lesson is about to begin. The more focused you are, the more likely you are to succeed. Take your places.”
“What is that all about?” said Sam.
